Hugh Hughes in...
360

“His humour, charm and the hilarious stories of life as an eight-year-old are a joy to listen to.” Daily Telegraph 4 stars

Winner ThreeWeeks Editors' Award 2009

A story of friendship and of sharing just about everything.

Using only his story-telling skills and the audience's imagination, Hugh tells his audience about the time he climbed Snowdon with his best friend, Gareth.

Through 360, Hugh gets into some big questions about bottling things up, honesty and the value of friendship. At the summit, he does a 360 degree turn to help him change his perspective, which is an important part of Hugh's theatre work.

Previous touring includes visits to... Sydney Festival; Drum Theatre Plymouth; Everyman Theatre, Liverpool; Oxford Playhouse; METAL, Southend-on Sea.

Written and performed by Hugh Hughes

Artistic Associates: Shôn Dale-Jones, Stefanie Mueller, Jill Norman, Alex Byrne and David Ralfe
