Hugh Hughes in...

Story of a Rabbit

"This is heartfelt and insightful stuff that has great power to move. Highly recommended." Evening Standard 4 stars

Winner Scotsman Fringe First Award 2007

The story of how losing a neighbour's rabbit helped Hugh unravel the meaning of life.

Hugh's second theatre show with Hoipolloi, Story of a Rabbit, premiered at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe in 2007 and won a Fringe First Award from The Scotsman. He is joined onstage by his musical collaborator Aled Williams (or sometimes Aled's brother, Dafydd).

Story of a Rabbit is really two stories, one about Hugh losing his neighbour's rabbit and the other is about Hugh's father. Together these stories allow Hugh to delve into our reactions to death and how we come to terms with grief. Story of a Rabbit is an uplifting show that shines light on life's final mystery.

Previous touring includes visits to... Barbican Centre, London; Spoleto Festival, Charleston; Wexner Center for the Arts, Columbus; FITB, Colombia; National Museum, Singapore.

Written and performed by Hugh Hughes and Aled Williams

Artistic Associates: Shôn Dale-Jones, Richard Couldrey, Stefanie Mueller, Alex Byrne and Guy Myhill

Originally produced with New Wolsey Theatre, Ipswich
